AIMS AND OBJECTIVES.

The Bahrain Red Crescent Society aims at realising the humanitarian objective of the International Red Cross Societies. The International nature of the Society and the humanitarian aims and purposes which it endeavours to achieve, both in Bahrain and abroad, according to the principles of humanitarian co-operation endorsed by the International Geneva Conventions and conforming with the principles of the other Red Crescent and red cross Societies are as follows.

1. IMPARTALITY

The Red Crescent was established to act and indiscriminate help and assistance soldiers and injured in the battlefield. The Society is presently pursuing a policy of protection for human life and public health, relief of human suffering and promotion of understanding, friendship and co-operation between all nations.

2. HUMANITARIAN AIMS

The Society refrains from taking part in any dispute and does not nationality, race, religion, social status or political ideology.

3. NEUTRALITY

The Red Crescent Society fulfils its duties without any consideration for nationality, race, religion, social status or political ideology.

4. INDEPENDENCE

The Red Crescent is an independent organisation. While its national Societies work closely with the authorities in their respective countries and abide by their laws, they maintain the independent pursuit of international principles of the Red Crescent and Red cross Societies.

5. CHARITABLE NATURE

The Red Crescent is a charitable organisation offering voluntary help and relief when needed without seeking any financial reward.

6. UNITY ASPECT

The Red Crescent may not establish more than, one organisation in each country and its humanitarian deeds extend to the entire nation.

7. GLOBAL CHARACTER

The Red Crescent Societies are global organisations which enjoy equal right and promote co-operation and understanding among them.
